

Under the McKinney-Vento Act, children in homeless situations have the right to:

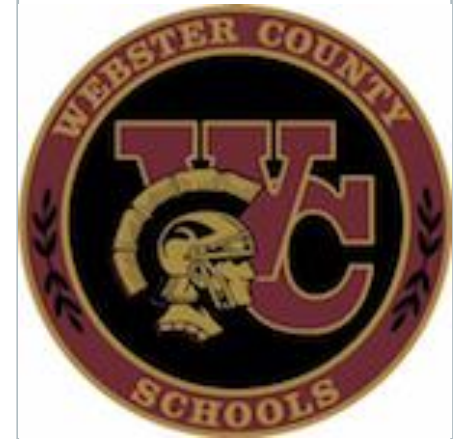

- Go to school
- Attend either the local school or the school of origin, if this is in their best interest. The school of origin is the school the child attended when he/she was permanently housed or the school in which the child was last enrolled.
- Enroll in school immediately, even if missing records and documents normally required for enrollment such as birth certificate, proof of residence, previous school records, or immunization/medical records.
- Enroll, attend classes, and participate fully in all school activities while the school arranges for the transfer of records.
- Have access to the same programs and service that are available to all other students including transportation and supplemental educational services.

The Transitional Student Services Program works with teachers, guidance counselors, family resource staff, local service organizations, and shelters to insure that every child is equipped for academic success.
